

1. Book Privately Guided Tours

The tour companies in Croatia are exceptional and knowledgeable in their niches. The bilingual tour guides are wonderfully fluent in English, exceptionally educated, and personable in their presentations.

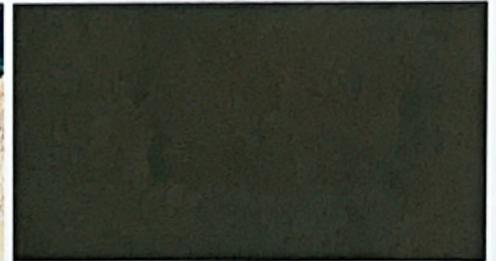

For your trip through Croatia, it is most advisable to book several private guided tours along your journey. You'll familiarize yourself faster with the cities this way, and you'll learn much more about Croatian history and culture than you would have on your own. By hiring a private guide, you'll be able to interact with a local professional, learn from his or her expertise, and gain valuable perspective on your destination.

still scarred by bullet holes from the Yugoslav wars, traverse beautiful coastal roadways, and catch glimpses of quaint Eastern European fairy-book towns. And for a real surprise—you'll even have an opportunity to stop through Bosnia and Herzegovina on the drive from Split to Dubrovnik!

With so many adventures to offer, Croatia is certainly worth adding to your travel bucket list. Thanks to its gracious people, rich history, and diverse scenery, this Eastern European gem is one you and your family will enjoy discovering together. So be adventurous and take your journey beyond the cruise...book with JSO Travel to explore Croatia and its beauty today!

2. Visit Plitvice Lakes

One of Croatia's unknown jewels is the Plitvice Lakes National Park, the nation's largest park and a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Situated near the Bosnia and Herzegovina border, the Plitvice Lakes is a system of crystal-clear emerald and topaz lakes, cascades, and rivers covering more than 73,000 acres. You'll definitely want to fill up your Instagram at this epic photo spot!

3. Hire a Private Driver for Point-to-Point Destinations

When traveling from Croatia's interior to its coastlines, I highly recommend booking a private guided transfer service from one destination to another. A drive through Croatia will allow you to see the unfamiliar chapters of Croatia's past—from the sobering to the delightful. You'll pass through abandoned villages with structures
